The Observance of Fast Day

The recommendation of the President, that yesterday should be observed as a day of fasting and prayor, was generally observed throughout the city yesterday, nearly all business being suspended through the entire day, and most of the churches being filled to over-dowing.

and most of the churches being filled to over-flowing.

At the navy yard, the hands were all dis-missed for the day, their pay geing on as usual, and the same example was very generally fol-lowed on private works.

In several of the churches, services were held throughout the day, commencing at early dawn and continuing until place or ten elevek at night; large congregations being in attend-ance throughout. Many of the soldiers from the camps were present at the various churches, and seemed to enter into the observ-ance of the day with a zest that was not only creditable to themselves, but pleasing to those who observed it.

Hattrond Arrangement.

Through the agency and exertions of Colonel Thomas A. Scott, arrangements have been made for a continuous and complete connection of the trains between Washington and New York, which herebores have been very imperfect. The express trains leaving New York at 7 A. M. and 6 P. M., and those leaving Washington at 6 A. M. and 21 P. M. will go through without breaking connection at any point, extraordinary emergencies alone excepted; and cars will run between Philadelphia and Washington on these trains without change at Havre de Grace or Buttmere. The stipulations for this have been signed by William P. Smith, of the Battmore and Ohlo railroad, S. M. Felton, of the Philadelphia, Wilmington, and Baltimore, and William H. Gatzmer, of the Camden and Amboy. Provision has also been made for ticketing and checking passengers and baggage through. The details of those arrangements will be looked after by R. F. Morley and Thomas H. Canfield, the Government managers of the military roads, and they have so much experience that they can hardly fail to secure efficiency and promptness.

Catching the Spirit of the Fathers.

Catching the Spirit of the Fathers.

Passing along in the neighborhood of M and Thirteenth streets, at a late hour night before last, we were suddenly brought to a stand-still by hearing the word "hait," which acounded as if coming from only a few feet off. We were not aware of any encampments being in this immediate vicinity, and the night being rather dark, we hastily drew from our pocket the penkulie we are in the habit of carrying when out late athight, and turned around, prepared to sell our life as dearly as possible, if attacked; but judge of our surprise when we discovered that the order had come from a yard to our left, where several pieces of cotton had been constructed to somewhat resemble a tent, inside of which some six or seven eight-year-olders, some of whom were asleep, while in front, with all the dignity of one of the Old Guard, strede a youngster, apparently about seven years old, wrapped to the chin in a massive overcoat, "with knapsack and accounterments in complete order," and armed with a wooden gan of the most approved pattern; just in front of the tent were the guns of the others, all carefully stacked—they were leaning against a chair—whilst under the head of one of the sleepers was a drum.

The time occupied by us in making this hasty inspection allowed us to see that we were not the party challonged, that individual being one of the members of the regiment, brigade, division, or whatever else it was; and it was not until he had given the countering that he was permitted to pass the vigilant sentinel.

Who says there is no military enthusiasm in Washington, when even the little boys are going through all the discipline of camp life?

Rather Ungallant.

The almost universal quiet and good order which prevaled throughout the city yeaterday, was somewhat marred, we regret to say, by the bad conduct of a couple of "fast men," who took this occasion to display their beautiful qualities.

About four actock in the afternoon the gay cavaliers, slightly insbriated, might have been seen in a hack, scated side by side with two gaily dressed girls, going through the Northern Liberties at an alarming pace. When they arrived near the corner of Eighth and K streets, one of the "young ladies" was suddenly perceived to roll out of the back, and to assume a decidedly undgmined position in the middle of the street, the back still keeping up its pravious 2,40 rate. It had hardly gone a square further, however, before the other young lady as somed a similar position in the middle of the street. The gay young cavaliers still continued to urge on the driver of the back, who whipped up his horses, and, for aught we know to the contrary, that hack has not stopped yet.

As for the young ladies, they picked themselves up from the street, and meeting on the pavement, congratulated themselves on having escaped from a broken lead, and then started rapidly homeward, to scape the jers of the crowd which had commenced to gather around.

Row in Swampoodle.

A row took place yesterday afternoon, on H street near North Capitol street, between Martin Mack, formerly an auxiliary guardaman, and a young man named John Hogan. It appears that a younger brother of Hogan bad sold a flask to Mack, and Hogan went to get it, when a quarrel ensued which soon resulted in a fight, in which other persons took part. Patrolman Hannon arrested Mack, Hogan, and a man neared Carmody, whom he took before man trinied Carmody, whom his took before Justice Barnach. Mack was held to bail to appear at court, Hogan was fined $2.94 for cursing and swearing, and Carmody was dis

A Huge Blacksmith bhop. Thomas J. Jeffries, Esq., of Philadelphia, paid a visit to Washington, a few days since, at the request of the War Department, to make arrangements for organizing a huge blacksmith shop for the Department. The amount of work is very large. The comomical management of the Assistant Secretary of War is exhibited, in this instance, by making such changes as will save, in this one item, a hundred thousand delars per annum.

Yesterday afternoon, a solder who refused to give his name, but stated that he belonged to the sixth Connecticut regiment, made a charge on the cake stand of Mr. Johnson, on Seventh, near the boundary, and ran off with several pies. An officer who happened to be near, gave chase, but before he re-sched him, the fellow turned and spattered the catables over his station. He however after a lone struggle. clothing. He, however, after a long struggle get him to Justice Barnaclo's effice, where he was given over to the provest guard.

Fire.

About cleven o'clock, on Wednesday night, the stable of Mr. Thomas Green, in the rear of his residence, hear the canal, was discovered on fire. The Franklin and Union fire com panies were early on the ground, but their ex-ertions were of attle use than to confine the devouring element to the building, the wood work of which was soon consumed. The carriages and hones were got out in safety. The proved guard, as usual, were promptly on the spot, and kept the crowd out of the way

Considerable excitoment was created on I Considerable exoluminate was created on street, near Fourth, on the navy yard, yesterday morning, by an alternation between a young man named Z. Offatt, and another named Scott. After the passage of a few blows, by which each were considerably bruised, the parties were separated.

Mrs. Gleason, who resides in the house known as Hoover's Slanghter-house, in the Morthers section of the city, was arrested on Wednesday for selling liquor to soldiers, and taken before Justice Barnaclo, by whom she was fined twenty-five dollars.
A colored man, named Ames, was arrested yesterday by Officers Beall and Shedd, for buying liquor from W. Quigley and giving it to soldiers. He was taken before Justice Sarnaclo, and fined $25. Quigley has already been fined twice this week on the same charge.
Mrs. Hogan, residing in Organ alley, was brought up by Officer Beall on the same charge, yesterday, and was made to pay $25 by Justice Barnaclo.

A Soldier Shot.

On Saturday last, a difficulty occurred be tween two soldiers of Company B, first regiment Excelsior brigade, in Port Tobacco, during which, William Shainon atooped to pick up a stone from the ground, when his companion levelled, his musket, and fired at him, the ball passing through his arm and leg, inflicting such wounds as will likely render the amputation of both limbs necessary. He was brought to the city on Wednesday night, and taken to the E street Hospital.

Visit to the Jall.

The inspector of prisons in France, who is now on a visit to this equitry, paid a visit to the county jail yesterday, in company with a member of the Franch legation. He was conducted through the various departments by the jailor, Mr. Wise, and expressed himself much pleased with the arrangements, and was astonished that such a ricketty and ill-planned building could be kept in so cleanly a condition.

Odd Fellows' Hall.

There was a big house last night to witness the mirth-provoking performances of the Campbella, and, Judging from the tempting programme offered, there is a fair prospect of the same thing being repeated to-night.

No Better.

Matthew Kenney, of company K, second cav-airy, who was wounded in a melee in Neitze's alley last week, still lies in a very critical con-dition at the E street Infirmary.

September 23.—About seven hundred non-commissioned officers and privates of Col. fulligan's command arrived here from Lexington, it is sourt, about six o'clock this evening. The remainder, amounting to about one hundred and forty, will be here to morrow or next day. Col. Mulligan's force at Lexington, it is stated by these soldiers, did not exceed two thousand five hundred, including several companies of Missouri Home Guard. The siege upon Col. Mulligan's entrenohments commenced on Thursday, the 12th inst., and was continued from day to day until Friday last, at five o'clock P. M., when the Union flag was hauled down by the Home Guard of Missouri, who had noted ineffectually and cowardly during the whole siege. Col. Mulligan refused to surrender, but being wounded in one of his legs at the time, could not prevent it.

wounded in one of his legs at the time, could not prevent it.

He had but five or six charges left for his artillery, and being nearly out of ammunition for his infantry and cavalry, he could have held out little longer. Colonel Marshall, of the cavalry, is said to have acted most cowardly, though his men conducted themselves with great bravery and gallantry, making several destructive charges upon the enemy.

After the surrender, when the rebeis approached Colonel Mulligan and demanded his sword, he refused to deliver it up, and they took it from him by physical force.

Col. M., and all the commissioned officers, are still held as prisoners.
